

"Just calm down" never worked, did it?
Here's the thing: your anxiety isn't a glitch. It's an alarm – a system doing its job, just a little too loud. You can't delete it. But you can train what you do when it goes off.

This is an anxiety workbook for teens who can't stand workbooks. No lectures, no therapy-speak – just a coach in your corner and small steps you can actually try.

Inside, you'll learn to:

- Reset a spike in about 90 seconds, anywhere, without anyone noticing
- Talk back to the anxious "announcer" in your head
- Break the avoidance loop that quietly makes anxiety bigger
- Quiet the 3 a.m. brain that replays everything at full volume

Built on real psychology, written in plain language a teenager will actually read. The alarm isn't the problem. Not knowing what to do when it goes off is.

Daniel Vega

YOUR ALARM ISN'T BROKEN

An Anxiety Workbook
for Teens
Who Hate Workbooks

Daniel Vega